Textiles, carpets, leather and garments

This sector of the economy builds on ancient traditions, dating back to the period of the Great Silk Way. The complete value chain was established in the middle of the twentieth century raw material extraction, spinning, weaving, and production of finished items was organized. The main products include fabrics, clothing, jean trousers, shorts, textiles, carpets and leather products. The sector has modern enterprises producing garments, footwear and haberdashery goods. The sector is also considered a priority sector by the Government, as outlined in the Complete Processing of Cotton Fibre Government Programme and the Light Industry Development Programme up to 2015 aimed at increasing the sector's export potential based on modernization and incentives for the creation of new enterprises. The International Trade Centre (ITC) has also successfully implemented a trade promotion program in Tajikistan aimed at supporting the development of the textiles and clothing industry.
